

OE! OE! OE!

Attention all good and brave gentles

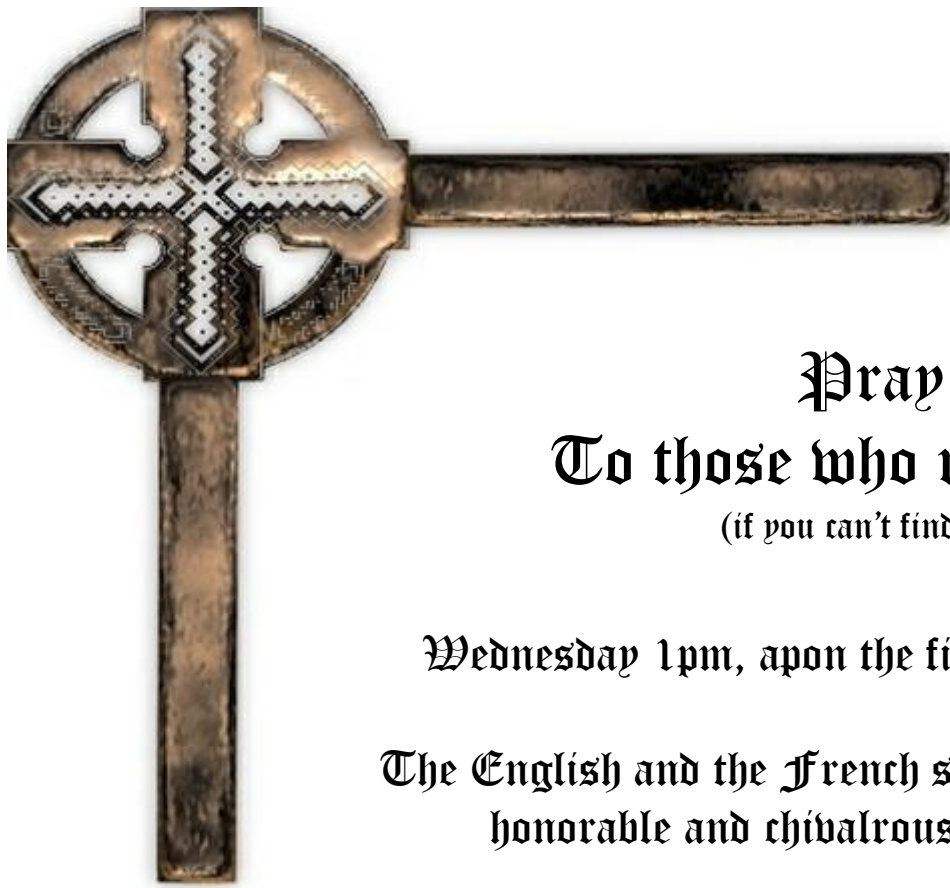

The 14th Century calls forth all those wishing to test their mettle and skills in combat for a small deed to be played upon the field of battle. A “friendly” ransom tourney will be held between the English and the French in the name of honor.

His Excellency, Sir Damien MacGabin is calling upon all French and their allies to participate. Whilst Lord Seamus Danger is marshalling the English Forces and their allies Combatants are requested to meet upon the field no later than 1 PM on Wednesday.

As this is a special rules tourney, 14th Century Kit (must have greaves) is required and the rules of the list are those of the Deeds held at Gulf Wars.

Please Contact either of the Captains or John Bowyer for further information

Pray Attend!
To those who read these words,
(if you can't find someone who can.)

Wednesday 1pm, upon the field of battle.

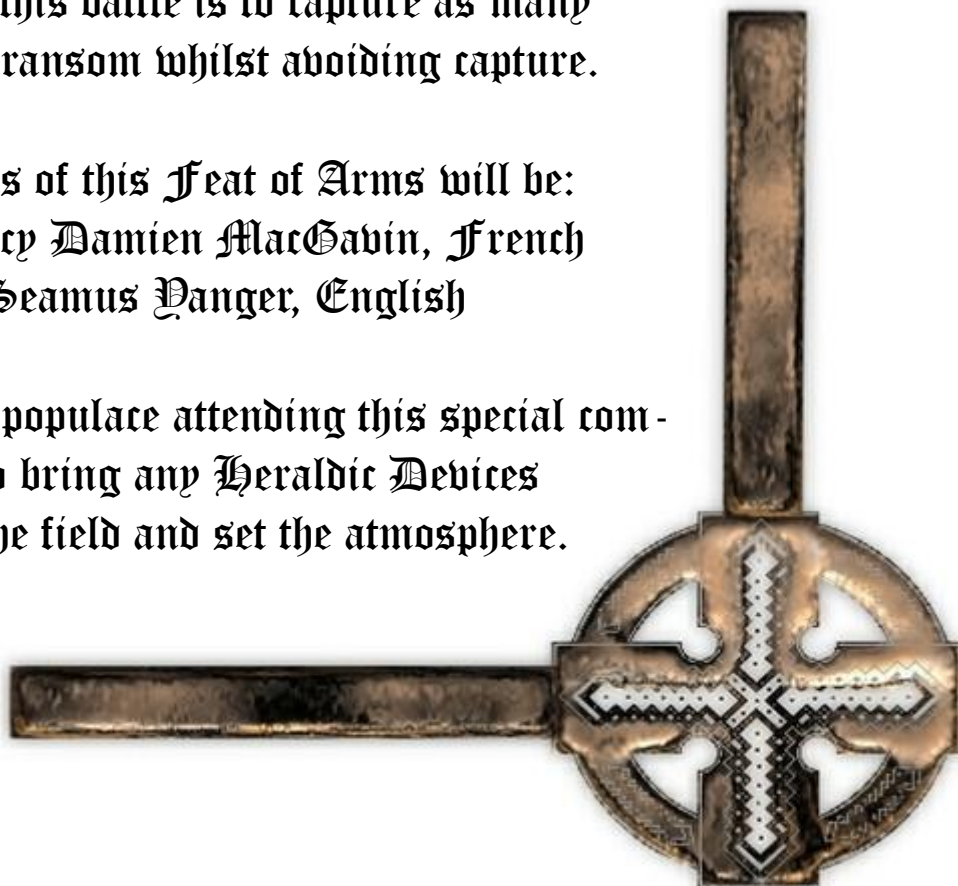

The English and the French shall meet to do honorable and chivalrous combat.

The combatants will don 14th Century armor and weapons will be limited to those of the time period. i.e.
no basket hilts on swords.

The object of this battle is to capture as many opponents for ransom whilst avoiding capture.

The Captains of this Feat of Arms will be:
His Excellency Damien MacGavin, French
Lord Seamus Ranger, English

It is asked of the populace attending this special combat event to bring any Heraldic Devices to decorate the field and set the atmosphere.

TO ARMS!!!!

All those true and noble to the St Georges Cross are requested to don warlike harness
The Vile French have thumbed their noses and have declared all those of the Fair English Isles unworthy and beneath their contempt.

Thusly Lord Seamus Danger is gathering forces to dispel the French of such notions. All true English are asked to attend and bring their Allies to the field of battle Wednesday 1pm

For those wishing to uphold English Honor and display their Martial Prowess, 14th Century armor (must have greaves) will be required.

Observation of this feat of arms is highly encouraged along with any displays of personal and national heraldry

Cueillez vos armes!!!

The honor and skill of all French warriors has been called to question by the vile English. They question our resolve and arrange themselves in battle before us.

Thusly, His Excellency, Sir Damien MacGavin has taken it upon himself to protect French Virtue and is gathering forces to request all those loyal to the Oriflamme to gather with their allies on the field of battle Wednesday 1pm

For those wishing to uphold French Honor and display their Martial Prowess, 14th Century Kit (must have greaves) will be required.

Observation of this feat of arms is highly encouraged along with any displays of personal and national heraldry
